In 2016, trust in nongovernmental organizations, business, media and government increased to its highest level since the Great Recession. But the 2016 Edelman Trust Barometer shows we're only seeing the tip of the trust story.

Across all audiences, business saw the largest increase in trust. Today, business finds itself in a new position of strength, with the chance to help bridge the trust gap."